The afternoon we take a nostalgic trip into the heart of a beloved holiday classic. Restored with meticulous detail, this Cleveland gem replicates the warm, quirky setting of the Parker family's 1940s home. Day #4 - Thursday, December 3, 2026 - Stan Hywet Hall - Indianapolis - Beef & Boards Dinner Theater

This morning, we visit Stan Hywet Hall. F.A. Seiberling, co-founder of The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, wanted to build a home large enough for their growing and extended family. They also wanted the house to function as a center for entertainment and events for the greater Akron community. They named it Stan Hywet, Old English for stone quarry — after the property's most prominent natural feature. The Tudor Revival style mansion is the 6th largest home open to the public in North America and has over 65,500 square feet. During the Holidays this mansion is considered one of the finest in Christmas decorations and priceless ornaments!
